

LEFT: My husband, Reid Gardner, joined me in honoring entertainment icon Debbie Allen and watching the incredible dance performances at Nevada Ballet Theatre's star-studded Black & White Ball at Aria. Special thanks to Mulberry, which dressed me in this exclusive-to-Vegas, Swarovski crystal-studded dress and bag, and to Platinum Entourage, for my hair and makeup. RIGHT: With Elizabeth Blau and chef Kim Canteenwalla at the opening of their terrific new Andiron Steak & Sea in Downtown Summerlin.

...s the hotel that a licentious would feel right at home in." advantages that other cities he burden of your earnest leave your composting to its sake, go watch a raunchy geltent or something.

When I read fantastic mocker- For instance, the windowless, no clocks and obscured exits e brightly skylit windows at nservatory of Bellagio, which piece was published. And as his issue, between growing entary schools and saving n unsustainable fish, we're st endeavors of our own. Just ar new wax figure of Miley Some things are sacred.

Andrea

ANDREA BENNETT

...ttf and on vegasmagazine.com.

// this issue //

ON MY RADAR

1. Ever wonder what Vegas would look like after the apocalypse? As interpreted by Smith & Cult, it's a wearable nail shade of holographic lavender glitter. squaresalon.com
2. I've been betrayed by the recipe-changing Cadbury, so I'm jumping ship to these Melt Away Eggs by local Sweet Ruby Jane Confections. sweetrubyjane.com
3. Zappos CEO Tony Hsieh described my friend Charles Ressler as "a unicorn and a flying monkey... underneath a rainbow of energy." I won't miss his one-night show, Brave, at the Smith Center on April 2. smithcenter.com